4. Brief description

Bent is a weighted cuddly friend which, due to its weight in combination with its long and weighted cuddly arms, creates relief, peace and security for people with stimulus processing problems, tension and sleep problems. Children, adults and elderly people suffering from dementia can definitely benefit from the support of this weighted cuddly toy.

Bent helps to prevent overstimulation and offers security and safety through its weight and design. It has been proven that weighting elements such as this one are effective in reducing tension and help to calm down and sleep better.

5. How to use

1. This weighted sloth is easy to put on your lap and hug.
2. Put the (weighted) arms over your shoulders and relax.
3. It is also possible to put this weighted animal on your body before going to sleep.
4. Bent is easily to carry along places: knot the long arms around your neck, and a "cuddle feeling" is the effect.

6. Sensory Stimulations

Touch, proprioception
