4. Short description

Bent is a weighted cuddly animal which, due to its weight in combination with its long and weighted cuddly arms, creates relief, peace and security in people with stimulus processing problems, tension and sleeping problems. Children, adults and elderly people with dementia can benefit from the use of this weighted cuddly toy.

Bent helps to prevent overstimulation and offers security and safety due to its weight and design. Weighted elements like this have been proven to be effective at reducing tension and helping to relax and fall asleep. This weighted cuddle toy is easy to put on your lap and hug. Place the (weighted) arms over the shoulders and relax completely. It is also possible to put this weighted animal on your body before going to sleep.
